QUALITY AND FOOD SAFETY POLICY

Levprot Bioscience is a company engaged in the manufacture, processing and transformation of food supplements, technological processing aid other tan enzymes, and additives other tan colourants and sweeteners.

Food safety is a top priority at Levprot Bioscience and serves as the foundation for establishing the general objectives and specific actions that guide the Organization's activities. These are reflected in the Food Safety Policy established by Management, in accordance with the following guidelines:

- Comply with legal and regulatory requirements and meet the expectations of our customers and consumers regarding food safety.
- Establish effective relationships with customers with the aim of fulfilling their requirements and analyse satisfaction with our products and services.
- Identify, assess and control physical, chemical, biological and food fraud hazards that may affect the safety and authenticity of our products, ensuring their integrity throughout the entire supply chain.
- Maintain effective internal and external communication mechanisms, ensuring transparency with customers, suppliers, and other interested parties.
- Ensure product traceability and the effective management of incidents, non-conformities and product withdrawals, acting promptly in response to any risk to consumer health.
- Carry out the company's activities respecting and preserving the environment and available natural resources, promoting sustainability, and upholding our commitment to the development, implementation and maintenance of the social management system.
- Continuously inform, train and raise awareness among personnel at all levels, according to their job positions, on issues and hazards affecting the safety and authenticity of our products, ensuring the correct performance of activities included within the management system.
- Promote continuous improvement through periodic monitoring and evaluation via verification activities, audits and inspections.
- Provide the necessary material and human resources to ensure compliance with the Policy, and to establish, implement, maintain and update the food safety management system, fostering a nondiscriminatory culture and respect for workers' rights.
- Define objectives and goals that support the fulfilment of the Food Safety Policy.
- Ensure that safety, legality and quality of our products, combing technological progress with adaptation to customer needs, while continuously promoting behaviours and beliefs aligned with a Food Safety Culture and always respecting the applicable legal requirements.

This policy is communicated and understood by all relevant personnel within the organization, is available to interested parties, and is periodically reviewed to ensure its ongoing suitability, effectiveness and alignment with the company's strategic objectives. It also reflects the Management's commitment to complying with all applicable requirements of the ISO 22000 standard, including legal, regulatory and customer-specific requirements, as well as to continuous improvement and the effective implementation of the Food Safety Management System.

The achievement of these guidelines is conceived as a collective as a collective team effort involving all levels of the organization.
